CARS MUST RUN.

Waco Tex., Oct. 9.—Mayor Sanford has issued an order to the street car company, whose employees are on a strike, to the effect that cars must resume operations at once. The mayor disavows official knowledge of the merits of the controversy, but requires that cars be at once placed in operation.

This brings the strike to a crisis and developments are expected as extra men have been employed by the company and an effort will be made to run cars.

UNKNOWN MAN ARRESTED.

Laurel, Miss., Oct. 9.—A young man poorly dressed, who was riding on the blind baggage, ran when an officer tried to arrest him, and he was shot through the heart. He had a memorandum in his pocket bearing the name of Mary Molly Curry, Beau-month, and Frank Williams, 1419 Delavan street, Louisville. He was about 23 years old, 5 feet 10 inches and had Auburn hair and gray eyes.

Lassiter, of Paducah, has not been set, although he has been indicted. Attorney Lightfoot has been employed to assist in the prosecution.

TREATY WITH CHINA

Has Now Been Signed By the United States.

Negotiations for it Had Been in Progress for Quite a While.

POINTS THAT ARE EMBRACED

Shanghai, Oct. 9.—The commercial treaty between the United States and China was signed yesterday by Sheng Kung Pao, Lu Kai Huan, United States Minister Conger, Consul-General Goodnow and Mr. Seaman.

Requests for the publication of the text were officially refused until it had been submitted to the United States.

The treaty between Japan and China also was signed.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The state department was informed that the American-Chinese commercial treaty has been signed at Shanghai. The cablegram announcing the signing of the treaty was sent from Shanghai, and was signed by Minister Conger, Consul-General Goodnow and Mr. Seaman, the three commissioners who negotiated the instrument. An Imperial decree by the Chinese government had made the treaty effective so far as that government is concerned, but it must be ratified by the United States senate before ratifications can be exchanged and the treaty put in operation.

Great satisfaction is expressed at the state department at the outcome, as it makes certain that the two ports in Manchuria will be opened to the United States, no matter what the outcome as to the negotiations for the evacuation of that territory by Russia may be. The assurance that Russia has previously given, and to which this government insist upon adherence is that the treaty arrangements made with China covering Manchurian ports will be binding upon the Russian government.

The principal points of the treaty, briefly, are as follows:

First, settlement of the long vexed question of internal taxation in China. Second, recognition of Americans' rights of residence throughout the empire for missionary work. Third, protection of patents, trade marks and copyrights.

Fourth, mining rights.

Fifth, opening of new localities to international trade in the part of the empire in which the United States has vast commercial interests.

Sixth, right to carry on trade, industries and manufactures in all parts of China.

A PROMINENT MAN.

MINE WORKER OFFICER COMING TO PADUCAH.

Mr. George Baker, Republican nominee for commissioner of agriculture for Kentucky, will be in the city Sunday. He is secretary of District No. 23, Miners' union, and local labor leaders are preparing to entertain him. He is in this end of the state in the interest of his candidacy and will not speak on this visit but may return later.

WILL SOON KNOW WHICH LEAGUE.—Wednesday next at Ft. Wayne, Ind., a meeting of the Central Baseball League will be held to decide on which cities are to be members of the league next season. Paducah will have in a formal application and it is believed stands a good chance to get in the league.

J. H. TILLMAN TALKS

Alleged Murderer of Editor Gonzales on the Stand.

Admitted That He Challenged Him to a Duel to Be Fought in Georgia.

THE WITNESS WAS COMPOSED

Lexington, S. C., Oct. 9.—James H. Tillman went on the stand yesterday afternoon as a witness in his own behalf in his trial for the murder of N. G. Gonzales. It was just one hour before adjournment that his counsel asked that the defendant be called. With perfect self-composure he arose from his seat among his attorneys and walked to the clerk's desk to take the oath. He was on the stand one hour.

When he took the stand he was asked by Mr. Croft to explain this and that incident to which reference had been made during the trial. After giving his explanation of the South Carolina elkh incident, he was asked in reference to any messages he may have sent to Mr. Gonzales, saying that he had sent a verbal message to him by George Legare asking him, Gonzales, to meet him in Georgia. He said Mr. Gonzales wanted the invitation put in writing, but he was afraid it was a trap. He said also that he did not want to violate any of the dueling laws of his state. Answering further questions the witness said that when he was correspondent in Washington for some southern papers Mr. Gonzales was applicant for the position of consul-general to Shanghai, and that he wrote his papers that Mr. Gonzales would not be appointed, and said he had some words with him in a hotel lobby in Washington.

As to the cigar incident he said that on the next day he went up to the hotel cigar stand and bought some cigars, and turning around offered them to those standing there. He noticed Mr. Gonzales then, he said, and saw he had made a mistake.

Asked as to Mr. Gonzales' attitude toward his military career, he said: "It has always been bitter towards me since I was 21 years old." The question of his military career and comments of the state was then taken up, Mr. Tillman stating among other things that Mr. Gonzales wanted to have him courtmartialled because of an incident which he related.

Relative to the organization of a company of Indian scouts, which has been referred to, the defendant said he wanted to organize such a company to take to the Philippines but President McKinley and the army officers in Washington opposed it.

Asked how he was treated by Mr. Gonzales in his campaign for governor the witness replied:

"I think those editorials are fair samples of it." He denied that he had ever been a traitor to his uncle, and said he had not intentionally been discontenous to the senate. He was next asked what had been the attitude of Mr. Gonzales toward him prior to 1902, to which he replied:

"I think the paper has been pretty well devoted to me since 1890, and in answer to a further question said the editorials in the State had been extremely abusive to him.

THE COUNTY SCHOOLS.—Indications point to the success of the effort to lengthen the county school term. Supt. Ragsdale feels confident that the question will carry by a good majority. The schools are now nearly all in session, with large attendance.

Almost Unnerved Me - Heart Pains.

Short of Breath, Faint and Languid.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine Cured Me.

"It has been five years since I was cured of heart trouble by your Heart Cure and Nervine, and I am just as sound as a dollar in my organs today. For several years I had been suffering with my heart. Breathing I had become short and difficult at times, sharp pains about the heart, sometimes accompanied with fluttering would make me feel faint and languid. The least excitement or mental worry would almost unnerve me. I felt that the trouble was growing worse all the time, and after trying many remedies prescribed by physicians without obtaining relief, I was induced to give your remedies a trial. I was relieved the second day, and after taking three or four bottles all symptoms were removed and have never shown signs of returning."—Rev. Geo. W. KILGORE, Chillicothe, Va.

There are many symptoms of heart disease, which so closely resemble those of more common nervous disorders as to frequently mislead the attending physician. Often in cases of heart trouble the stomach, kidneys, liver and lungs become affected. Again the symptoms may be those of weakened nerves, as tired feeling, sleeplessness, timidity, the patient is easily excitable and apt to worry without cause. If you have the least suspicion that your heart is weak study your symptoms and begin the use of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, the great heart and blood tonic, without a day's delay.

These symptoms may be followed by violent headache, high fever, extreme nervousness, a condition known as malaria. Herbine cures it. There is nothing better for malaria, chills and fever, headache, biliousness and for a blood purifying tonic, there is nothing as good." 50c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

Solicitor Worten read a report on the matter referred him some time ago regarding the gas company charging meter rent to consumers. His opinion is it can't be done. In the opinion he roasts those members of the boards as well as the mayor, for sending to outside lawyers, mayors and others for opinions relative to the law. Alderman Singleton objected to the feeling displayed in the opinion as unjust to those members who had not been guilty of offending the solicitor in such a manner, and said it was an insult to innocent members. Quite a wrangle ensued, but the board received the report and it was ordered embodied in the minutes that the board thought the opinion insolent and uncalled for. CHILDREN WERE SHOT

Atrocious Outrages are Reported From Turkey.

An Illinois Woman Gives Birth to Four Children at Eldorado Illinois.

AN INDIANAPOLIS DECISION

KILLED HIS SOLDIERS.

Dunbitta, Oct. 9—Refugees from Turkish barbarities are streaming in here. I passed two women on the road today. One of them, carrying a naked baby on her breast, had been wounded by Turkish bullets, and the other said she considered herself lucky that she was not among the number of those who had been massacred.

I am informed that a young Turkish officer named Zeifoula Bey, and who had been married only a month, was sent to the vilayet of Bitoli by Siltia Pasha. He became disgusted with the uncontrollable brutality of the soldiers. One day, after being worsted by the insurgents outside the village of Armenia, the soldiers, when they returned to the village took twenty children aged between six months and seven years and hung them head downward, arranged according to their size, while the parents were compelled to stand near. Soldiers then began shooting the children, when Zeifoula Bey appeared on the scene. He uttered a terrible cry drew his sword and ran amok among his soldiers, who fled. Zeifoula killed two and wounded many of his soldiers before he was overpowered. The officer was sent to Constantinople where he is now in a lunatic asylum.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are both hard working people and have four children living.

MODERN FALLACIES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 9—In a decision of the supreme court reversing, for lack of evidence, a judgment declaring the will of Joseph Wait, invalid, the court decided that a man's belief in witchcraft does not prove him insane.

It was shown by the evidence that Wait wandered over his farm, near Indianapolis, for days at a time searching for hidden treasure. He carried a ball tied to a string and he said that when the ball whirled around the treasure would be found directly under the spot.

In his opinion, Judge Hatley said that there were many sane people who believed in the power of a forked stick in revealing underground water supplies, and that many scholarly business men believe in spiritualism, clairvoyance, transmigration of souls and witchcraft.

He pointed out that Blackstone and Sir Matthew Hale believed in witchcraft and in their burning.

IS IT ROSS?

The Long Lost Charlie Said to be Found.

Texas Man Said to Be Beyond Doubt the Stolen Boy.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 9.—So firmly convinced is William Parker of San Antonio, that William Vond Hodge of Galveston, is the lost Charley Ross that he says he would wager his home on the identity. He knew the Ross family well, and came here to see Von Hodge. The general description as given him by the Ross family tallies so closely with Von Hodge that he says he is almost positive that the long-sought boy still lives.

The theory advanced and accepted generally that the Ross had died while in captivity is not accepted by Parker, who declares he always believed the boy was given in charge of some irresponsible person by his abductors and slipped from their power.

Greater interest is added to the affair by Captain George Smith of Galveston, who is an intimate friend of the Ross family. He returned from a trip up the state and called upon Von Hodge. Captain Smith had visited at the Ross homestead many years before after the disappearance of Charley, and had frequently had members of the family guests on his ship when he followed the sea. After an interview with the young man, Captain Smith said he really did not know what to think. He declared the boy not only resembles the lost child, but that he detected a similarity in the voice, and was almost tempted to declare him to be the missing boy.

He says he hopes to be in possession of authoritative information in a few days which will permit me to positively identify the young man if he be Charley Ross. The story of his life as he remembers it appears possible and plausible.

HUSBAND DEAD

Mrs. Nation's Husband Dies in Kansas.

Revives Stories of the Smashers' Domestic Infelicities.

Captain David Nation, former husband of Mrs. Carrie Nation, a joint smashers, is dead at Medicine Lodge, Kan., after being ill less than a day of a hemorrhage of the stomach.

His sons and daughters in Ohio and Texas have been notified and they will direct the funeral arrangements. David Nation filed suit for divorce from Carrie Nation in August, 1901. He alleged that by her crusade against the liquor traffic, she had held him up to public ridicule, contempt and disgrace. He alleged that she had neglected family duties and had abandoned his home. Mr. Nation alleged among other things that his wife had taken away his feather bed. Mrs. Nation's comment when she heard of the suit was:

"I have lived a falsehood by holding out to the world that I respected him. I feel a great relief. What use has he for a divorce? He is 73 years old. He can't marry again."

Mr. Nation said he had a letter in which his wife called him "a hell-bound hypocrite." She retorted by saying he would not get up and make a fire on a cold morning. The divorce was granted. Mrs. Nation began her crusade in January, 1901, by smashing several "joints."

WILD MAN IS LOOSE

Peculiar Story Comes From Perryville, Ky.

The State W. O. T. U. Elect Officers—New Indictments at Madisonville.

FIRE IN CHRISTIAN COUNTY

WEIRD TALE OF WILD MAN.

Perryville, Ky., Oct. 9.—Some hunters discovered a wild man ten miles South of here on Chaplin river, and the facts which led to this condition of a member of a former prominent citizen are interesting as well as pathetic.

Some sixty years ago Elias Ford and family, consisting of his wife and six children, came from New Hampshire to Washington county, and located, and the husband and father engaged in the manufacture of brooms and chairs. From the beginning he prospered, and his family was a happy one, and stood well in the surrounding community. Fever raged in epidemic form in that section about the beginning he prospered, and his family all died with the exception of the father and youngest child, which was a son seven or eight years of age. This terrible calamity took all the money of the family and almost drove Ford to distraction. He began to drink, and during his spree would terrorize the neighborhood and beat his son unmercifully. The boy one day cut the front portion of his right foot off while playing with a hatchet, and while he was in this condition his father would make him work and cuff him about severely. After returning from a protracted spree some days before the battle of Perryville Ford found his son missing from home. He made a vain search of the surrounding country for him. His neighbors joined in the search, and it was finally concluded that he had been devoured by the wolves as several were known to have been in that community.

But the hunters made a discovery which throws light on the mysterious disappearance of the Ford boy. At the entrance of a huge cave on Chaplin river, ten miles south of here, they observed the footprints of a man, and more distinctly that a portion of one of his feet was gone. They followed the tracks two or three hundred yards into the cave and were startled to find a man, having the appearance of being about sixty years of age, in a desperately wild condition. After gazing at the hunters a few moments, he darted into one of the dark passages and was seen no more. For years farmers residing in that section have mysteriously lost sheep, hogs and chickens. The older residents are satisfied that the wild man is the missing son of Elias Ford.

A party will visit the cave shortly and make an effort to catch the wild man.

INDICTED AT MADISONVILLE.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 9.—The Hopkins county grand jury, which is in session here, has indicted J. H. Lindle and E. Witherspoon for the murder of Jesse Burton, at Earlinton, on July 4, 1903. Lindle was brought to this city from Henderson, where he has been since the killing of Burton last summer, for safe keeping but it was found that the sentiment among the friends of the murdered boy was still very strong against Lindle and he was taken back to Henderson, where he will be kept until his trial is called in court here next week.

The company has seven other wells on this lease which will be put to work at once.

Rheumatism

"THE PAIN KING."

Those who have ever felt its keen, cutting pains, or witnessed the intense suffering of others, know that Rheumatism is torture, and that it is rightly called "The King of Pain."

All do not suffer alike. Some are suddenly seized with the most excruciating pains, and it seems every muscle and joint in the body was being torn asunder. Others feel only occasional slight pains for weeks or months, when a sudden change in the weather or exposure to damp, chilly winds or night air brings on a fierce attack, lasting for days perhaps, and leaving the patient with a weakened constitution or crippled and deformed for all time.

An acid, polluted condition of the blood is the cause of every form and variety of Rheumatism, Muscular, Articular, Acute, Chronic, Inflammatory and Sciatic, and the blood must be purged and purified before there is an end to your aches and pains. External applications, the use of liniments and plasters, do much toward temporary relief, but such treatment does not reach the real cause or cleanse the diseased blood; but S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers and tonics, does cure Rheumatism by antidoting and neutralizing the poisonous acids and building up the weak and sluggish blood. It is safe and reliable in all forms of Rheumatism. It makes the old acid blood rich, and the pain-tortured muscles and joints are relieved, the shattered nerves are made strong, and the entire system is invigorated and toned up by the use of this great vegetable remedy.

If you have Rheumatism, write us, and our physicians will furnish without charge any information desired, and we will mail free our book on Rheumatism.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Saturday. Light frost tonight.

THE CITY WAS THE SUCKER.

The people of Paducah do not need any additional evidence of the inefficiency of the Democratic administration of Paducah. They have been getting nothing else but evidence of this description for the past several years, and now they have another glaring sample of it. Last night by order of the board of aldermen, the council having previously passed on it, Mr. Terrell, the contractor, was ordered given back the $500 check he deposited with the city as a forfeit when he bid on the brick street. Either the city, through its blundering boards, so drew up the specifications, and the contract that Mr. Terrell refused to sign, that it could not legally hold back the $500 forfeit money, or else Mr. Terrell, who has always had a pull with the Democratic office holders, used his pull to the detriment of the taxpayers and got his money back. In either instance the people have gotten the hot end of it. If it was pure ignorance and inefficiency that enabled Mr. Terrell to get back the $500 forfeit, the boards deserve the unqualified sympathy, as well as censure of the taxpayers; and if it was done only because Mr. Terrell has a pull, they are entitled to prompt and inexorable condemnation.

The city seems to have been well-knocked in this brick street job. After many weeks of "fooling around" the board finally did manage to get bids in for the work. Mr. Terrell's bid was then not in the proper form, and if it had been on a government job or on any other kind of a job where bidding is required to be done in a business-like way, it would not have been considered at all. There was another bid much lower, but the boards seemed to want Mr. Terrell to have the job and new bids were ordered.

When these bids were opened Mr. Terrell apparently had the lowest. He like the others, had put up $500 as a forfeit in case he was awarded the work and refused to sign the contract, and then flatly refused to sign the contract. The city, after wrangling some more, kindly agreed to give Mr. Terrell another chance, and advertised the third time for more bids. When these the $500 as a guarantee that he would sign and then refused to sign. The contract was let to him again at this advance, and now his $500, in addition, has been given back to him, making him somewhere $2000 better off than he would have been had he been made to do the work at the price in the second bid, at which figure the contract was let to him.

The city has accordingly lost much time, the cost of advertising and other expenses, the $500 forfeit, and in addition had to pay the contractor somewhere near $1500 more than he first agreed to do the work for. This is the idea of the crowd in office of business methods, and of properly representing the interests of the taxpayers. Had it been the government, or anything else that goes about such things in a business-like manner, it would not only have kept the $500 forfeit, but would as well have made the contractor lose the difference between the bid he refused to sign the contract for, and the one he finally did sign, which would be somewhere near $1500 in this case, according to reports.

No one blames Mr. Terrell for having a pull. There is a modern saying about "if you catch a sucker bump him" and the city has been the sucker and got bumped, and always will as long as the present crowd is allowed to remain in office and gouge the people through graft and pulls. There is no business sense exhibited in anything they do, although there are some good business men on the boards. They ought to be shelved by the people in November. It is the only way to protect the taxpayers. Competition in bidding on municipal public work is gradually diminishing because contractors have gotten so they do not want to go to the trouble to bid on certain kinds of work in Paducah claiming that friends of certain men in the boards are determined their favorites shall have the jobs at all hazards. There are contractors here on whom the boards without hesitation pile contracts enough to require months and months more than the time specified for completion and then extend the time to suit the contractors' convenience for finishing the work. Some streets were recently completed by one contractor which were started three years before. This sort of business is due to pulls, and pulls should be eliminated from city government and the way to do it is to oust the present crowd from office.

If G. O. Beckham counts on waiting until he secures promises from those in Graves county and elsewhere who are familiar with the facts in the reported release of Sam Clark from the Eddyville penitentiary for $800 contributed to the Democratic campaign fund, not to tell what they know, he will probably be disappointed and the other side has forestalled him and affidavits have already been made to the effect that the charges are true. There is apparently no answer to the charges, as pointed out last night by Major Owen, or it would have been made long ago by the Governor.

The flying machine inventor and the north pole crank still flourish. These two classes of enthusiasts mean well but they have in their years of perils and costly experiments accomplished perhaps least of all the workers in the cause of science. The public is about ready to believe that flying machines and perpetual motion will never be successfully invented. If there is any advantage to be gained by discovering the North pole, it has got to be shown.

Chicago has begun a crusade against "grats," and forty-six city employees are involved to date. She bids fair to soon be in the same class as St. Louis.

The city strains at a gnat and swallows a camel. It orders the few nickels a month paid for gas meter rent refunded, and makes a contractor a present of a $500 check.

The registration shows heavy Republican gains in nearly every city in the State, and is giving the Democrats something to think over.

Henry of Navarre was exhorting his soldiers to follow the white plume.

"But," they protested, "our wives will all want one for their hats."

"I can't help that," replied their stern leader. "Remember, war is war; besides, it would spoil Macanley's poem if you didn't."

Pressing forward to do their duty, they soon made Irvy famous.—New York Sun.

TROUBLES GALORE

Another Member of the City Committee Sues Ledger.

Attorney Cross Asks $25,000—Colonel Caldwell Files Amendment Making Individual Parties to Suit.

THREE OTHER BIG SUITS

The Evening Ledger now has an abundance of troubles on its hands. Several well known citizens supposed to be putting up the money with which to print it have been made parties to Colonel R. G. Caldwell's suit and will be in other suits yet to file.

It is understood that $5,000 was made up to run the paper six months.

Attorneys Flournoy and Harrison, Reed and Berry and Wheeler and Hughes this afternoon filed for Colonel R. G. Caldwell an amendment to the original petition in which he sues the Ledger Publishing company for $25,000 for printing an alleged libelous article about him.

The amendment makes Messrs. R. H. Scott, James Koger, W. B. Smith, Charles C. Leigh and E. W. Smith parties to the suit and charges that they have formed a partnership to publish the Ledger paper and further that the three original incorporators, Messrs. R. D. Wilbanks, S. W. Banks and W. A. Hall were merely secured as figureheads and that they did not own any stock and that the stock had not been subscribed in good faith and that the corporation was not a legal one in fact that no notice specifying an agent on which to serve notice had ever been filed with the secretary of state.

The amendment sets out further that Wilbanks and Hall have since left the city and that they had been fraudulently secured to play the role of incorporators.

Attorneys Flournoy and Harrison this afternoon filed a suit for Attorney D. A. Cross against the Ledger Publishing company for $35,000 damages for libel.

The defendant, it is alleged in the petition, printed and published concerning the plaintiff libelous and slanderous remarks damaging his reputation and good name together with causing him much embarrassment. The article is the same one concerning the action of several members of the Democratic city committee as published about Colonel R. G. Caldwell, who has also sued and is charged Mr. Cross had acted corruptly and perjured himself and acted as a slave to Colonel Caldwell who was dubbed the czar.

The attorneys stated this afternoon that tomorrow an amendment similar to that filed in Colonel Caldwell's suit, would be filed for Attorney Cross suing each of the men putting up the money to publish the Ledger.

Attorneys Lightfoot and Yonts have been employed by Messrs. Harry Savage, Al Foreman and Frank Digel, three other members of the Democratic city committee, to bring suit for them against the Ledger company for $25,000 damages each for libel, and the suits will be filed within a day or two, just as soon as the attorneys can prepare them.

The attorneys will sue the paper and the gentlemen backing it. The allegations of libel are the same as in the other suits filed against the company.

Trains Running Over the Burned Trestle.

Only a Few Bones of the Two Dead Trainmen Were Recovered.

WRECK WAS UNUSUALLY BAD

The wreck near Calvert City yesterday which cost the lives of Engineer Dulaney and Fireman C. L. Hutton, has been cleared away and the track prepared for traffic. At 4:25 yesterday afternoon the first train crossed the bridge and it was the Louisville and Fulton accommodation train No. 121 which arrived here late. This was followed by No. 101, the fast cannon ball passenger train and later the freight trains began to move but are still in a pretty congested condition.

The freight service was probably the worst crippled yesterday on account of the wreck although much inconvenience was caused the passenger trains in going over the L. and N. road. The loss of passenger and freight patronage on the divisions affected by the wreck will amount to no mean sum.

It is impossible to estimate the damage done by the wreck but both engines will have to be practically rebuilt. The merchandise destroyed by fire will cut a big figure in the damage also and this added to the expense of delays and loss of patronage in the few hours the division was tied up will mount high into the thousands.

The remains of Fireman Hutton were recovered first but the only a few charred remains of the body and lower limbs were recovered. Engineer Dulaney was burned entirely up and one piece of bone, a comb, piece of watch chain and collar button were all the means of identification discovered in the wreckage.

Engineer Dulaney's wife will leave today for Grand Fork, North Dakota, where she has relatives.

Eye witnesses who saw the wreckage yesterday morning state that it was the worst they had witnessed in years. The engines met just at the edge of the trestle and rebounded slightly, leaving the south bound engine hanging over the edge of the burned bridge and the engine of the north bound falling down with the burning bridge and cars.

Relatives of C. L. Hutton, the fireman killed in the Calvert wreck Wednesday night, have been telegraphed concerning the disposition of the remains and have instructed that the body be sent to Cumberland Furnace, Tenn., for burial. His name proved to be Hutton, not Hutton, and his father is a doctor.

This morning a portion of a leg and other charred portions of the body along with Engineer Dulaney's watch, were taken from the debris of the Calvert City wreck. The laborers are still at work going over the debris and it will be some time before the wreckage has been cleared entirely away.

Orders were given Undertakers Nance and Spalling this afternoon, to ship the body of Engineer Dulaney to South Dakota, his former home Sunday or Monday. The order was given by the local lodge of Maccabees of which he was a member. The remains of the wreck are still at the undertaker's awaiting instructions from relatives.

GERMAN SYRUP.

We want to impress on our readers that Beecher's German Syrup is positively the only preparation on the market today that does relieve and cure consumption. It contains the sassafras, such as pure tar, extracts of gums, etc., which have been so highly endorsed for the cure of coughs, colic and consumption by the great medical congresses. The consumptive, whether his disease is in the throat or lungs, must have rest at night, and be free from the spasm of dry and racking cough in the morning. The diseased parts want rest, healing and soothing treatment, and the patient needs fresh air, good food, etc. German Syrup will give free and easy expectation in the morning with speedy and permanent relief. Small bottles, 25 cents; regular size, containing nearly four times as much, 75 cents. At all druggists.

Large Crowds at the Races Yesterday.

The Sightseers at the Carnival Filled the Enclosure and Beat the Record.

WEATHER IS VERY FINE

AT THE CARNIVAL.

This was "News Boys" afternoon at the carnival and a number of youngsters enjoyed the delights of the great show as the guests of Executive Committee H. C. Rhodes from 1 o'clock until time for them to deliver their papers. They met at First and Broadway and went to the carnival grounds in a body. Their appreciation of the courtesy extended them was shown in the enthusiasm with which it was received, and their enjoyment of all they saw.

The unusual feature of a wedding ceremony between acts at the circus attracted a large crowd to this show last night.

Miss Rose Cluckey of Lansing, Mich., and Mr. Joseph Metcalf of Roanoke, Va., were married, according to previous arrangement at 9 o'clock under the large tent, Rev. J. L. Perryman of the East Baptist church performing the ceremony.

For Wednesday night's prize the second number, 1711, is now good until 9 o'clock tonight, as the first number did not show up by that hour last night. If 1711 is not handed in by tonight, 1839 will then get the prize if presented by tomorrow night at 9 o'clock.

The prize to be given away this evening is a fine $25 graphophone.

The paid attendance last night was about 3700, the largest of the week, and tonight will doubtless be greater. The Red Men will have a burlesque parade tonight. It will form at First and Broadway at 7:30 and the line of march will be out Broadway to the carnival grounds. A number of grotesque costumes will be seen and attractive specialties have been arranged for it.

AT THE FAIR.

Yesterday was Paducah Day at the county fair and the people were out in force and filled the big grand stand to the overflowing mark. So dense was the enormous crowd that many had to seek places behind the judges stand in the enclosure of the race track, many standing in the track.

The races were begun shortly after two o'clock and were finished by five. There were many starters in all races, which were principally running races, and much excitement was manifested in the contests. The free acts on the track in front of the grand stand were all good and there was "something doing" every minute.

The street car company could hardly handle the business in the afternoon and every available car was secured to handle the Broadway trade. A member of the street car company stated that nearly three thousand were out in the afternoon, the large crowd of the week. The grand stand has a comfortable seating capacity of something over two thousand but people were even hanging onto rafters in their endeavors not to miss anything.

The fair promoters were pleased to see the interest taken in their attempts to please, and are confident that next year they will eclipse any fair ever given here.

BRILLIANT ADDRESS

Major W. C. Owens Heard by a Well Pleased Crowd.

He Turns Loose His Batteries on the Democratic Gang.

WAS LIBERALLY APPLAUDED.

Major W. C. Owen, the first Republican orator of State fame to speak in Paducah during the present campaign, spoke two hours last evening at the county court house to one of the most appreciative audiences that ever assembled in Paducah. Considering the carnival and other attractions, it was a large crowd.

Major Owen fully maintained his reputation as an orator. A prominent Democrat said today that he knew of no speaker in Kentucky who excelled Major Owen, and that he would rather hear him speak than anyone else in the state. Democrats and Republicans alike applauded the eloquent speaker at intervals during his address.

Major Owens paid his respects to Mr. Harry Weisinger, the recently discovered orator of Democracy, applauded him for his magnanimity in giving his check for $300 to the Confederate home but sympathized with the old soldiers because the check was not paid. He said when Gov. Bradley's administration went into office there was a balance in the treasury of $169.78 and a floating debt of $1,800,000.

The total cash in treasury including sinking fund and school fund amounted to $153,734.33 at the end of the Gov. Bradley's term there was $630.72 cash in the treasury and a total including sinking and school funds of $1,060,425.08.

He scored Gov. Beckham for paying Captain Callhoun $71,000 for collecting the war claim when it had been agreed he was to do the work for $3,000. Also for paying the same Capt. Callhoun a fee of $18,000 that was taken from the Kentucky soldiers of the Spanish war when no fee should have been paid as there was no work necessary to be done.

He referred to Gov. Beckham pardoning criminals and said it was not so much the number of them, but the class of cut-throat scoundrels on this community. Referring to the pardon of Mr. Sam Clark who killed Mr. Carney, of Paducah, he said: "Nearly three weeks ago Mr. Spight, of Graves county, the candidate for secretary of state on the Republican ticket charged that Gov. Beckham when he was a candidate for Governor against Mr. Yerkes agreed for a consideration of $800 to pardon a man by the name of Samuel Clark who was in the penitentiary for killing a citizen of Paducah, the money to be turned over to the Democratic campaign committee."

"He challenged Mr. Beckham to deny it and said he was prepared to prove it by good Democratic authority. It was a charge that vitally affected both his personal and official integrity and honor. If true it proves that Beckham was not only unworthy of public trust but absolutely unfit for the association of gentlemen. Three weeks nearly have gone by yet Beckham has not yet had time or courage to deny it, though he is on the stump speaking every day. His friends however, are busy in Graves county trying to induce the men who know of this miserable transaction not to tell what they do know and when they succeed in accomplishing that purpose Beckham will deny it and not until then. Leading Democrats of Graves county are now engaged in trying to make Sam Clark's close personal friends believe that if they do not have this scandal hushed up, that Clark's parole will be recalled and he returned to the penitentiary. A denial after this prolonged silence will carry with it no fire, for silence has already amounted to confession."

Major Owens' speech in other respects was along the same lines as heretofore, and was a gem. Major Owen is as handsome as he is eloquent, and made many friends while in Paducah.

There was a great disturbance among the elephants on the ark.
"Why are they kicking up such a row?" queried the lion.
"Oh, Noah forgot to bring along any peanuts," elucidated the leopard.—Chicago News.

"Do the work you are suited for," said the flue.

"Get a good pull with the ring," said the doorbell.

"Be sharp in your dealings," said the knife.

"Find a good thing and then stick to it," said the glue.

"Trust to your stars for success," said the night.

"Strive to make a good impression," said the son.

"Turn the most of your good points," said the compass.

"Be always on the lookout for a snap," said the camera.

"Be ever ready to do a good turn for anyone," said the crank.

"Never take sides, but be round when you are wanted," said the ball.

"Sacrifice yourself, that through you others may succeed," said the orange.

"Keep a good heart, though you be drawn and quartered for it," said the oak.

"You have had such a discouraging experience in the matrimonial line," said the girl who had been her dearest friend in college, "that I suppose you would never be willing to put your trust in another man."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the fur young grass widow, "the alimony comes to a good deal more than I could hope to earn in any other way."

Hastily swallowed meals are probably the greatest cause of indigestion.

The stomach is given more than its share of work and is weakened. The first thing to do in correcting the trouble is to stop fast eating. The next thing is to take a good digestive tonic to strengthen the digestion and enrich the impoverished blood.

ALICE of OLD VINCENTS

By MAURICE THOMPSON

Copyright, 1903, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

Beverly wrung Kenton's hand and looked into his eyes as a man does when an old friend comes suddenly out of the past, so to say, and brings the freshness and comfort of a strong, true soul to brace him in his hour of greatest need.

"Of all men in the world, Simon Kenton, you were the least expected. But how glad I am, how thankful! Now I know I shall succeed. We are going to capture Vincennes, Kenton, are we not? We shall, shall we, Jazon? Nothing, nothing can prevent us, can it?"

Kenton heartily returned the pressure of the young man's hand, while Uncle Jazon looked up quizzically and said:

"We're a to'ble 'spectable lot to prevent; but, there, we might git perverted. I've seed better men 'an us party consid'ble perverted lots o' times in my life."

"For my part," said Kenton, "I am with ye, old boy, in anything ye want to do. But now ye've got to tell me everything. I see that ye're keepin' something back. What is it?" He glanced sidewise slyly at Uncle Jazon.

Beverly was frank to a fault, but somehow his heart tried to keep Alice all to itself. He hesitated, then—

"I broke my parole with Governor Hamilton," he said. "He forced me to do it. I feel altogether justified. I told him beforehand that I should certainly leave Vincennes and go get a force to capture and kill him, and I'll do it, Simon Kenton; I'll do it!"

"See, I see," Kenton assented, "but what was the row about? What did he do to exhort ye, to make ye feel justified in breakin' over yer parole in that high handed way? Pity, I know ye too well to be fooled by such a go'fellow's talk. Well, then, what did he do to ye?"

"Mind as two mules," said the old man; "but, as for that general," he added, winking both eyes at once, "I don't know as it's so mighty hard to guess. It's always safe to 'imagine a woman in the case. It's mostly women that sends men a-trottin' off 'bout nothin', sort o' crazylike."

"They's a pooty gal at Vincennes, an' I see the young man a-steppin' in dry her house about fifteen times a day 'fore I let the pike. Maybe she's tuck up w' one o' them English officers. Gabe is slippery an' on'sartin'."

"Jazon," cried Beverly, "stop that instantly, or I'll wring your old neck!" His anger was real, and he meant what he said. He clinched his hands and glowered.

"Don't get mad at the old man," said Kenton, plucking Beverly aside. "He's yer friend from his heels to his old scalped crown. Let him have his fun." Then, lowering his voice almost to a whisper, he continued:

"I was in Vincennes for two days and nights sayin' around. Mm, Goddere hid me in her house when there was need of it. I know how it is with ye. I got all the gossip about ye and the young lady, as well as all the information about Hamilton and his forces that Colonel Clark wants. I'm goin' to Kaskaskia, but I think it quite possible that Clark will be on his march to Vincennes before we get there, for Vigo has taken down full particulars as to the fort and its garrison, and I know that he's determined to capture the whole thing or die tryin'."

Beverly felt his heart swell and his blood leap strong in his veins at these words.

"I saw ye while I was in Vincennes," Kenton added, "but I never let ye see me. Ye were a prisoner, and I had no business with ye while yer parole held. I felt that it was best not to tempt ye to give me aid or to let ye have knowledge of me while I was a spy. I left two days before ye did and should have been at Kaskaskia by this time if I hadn't run across Jazon, who declined me. He wanted to go with me, and I waited for him to repair the stock of his old gun. He tinkered at it 'tween meals and showers for half a week in the Indian village back yonder before he got it just to suit him. But I tell ye he's worth waitin' for any length of time, and I was glad to let him have his way."

Kenton, who was still a young man in his early thirties, respected Beverly's reticence on the subject upon most in his mind. Mm, Goddere told the whole story with flamboyant embellishments. Kenton had seen Alice, and, inspired with the gossip and a surreptitious glimpse of her beauty, he felt perfectly familiar with Beverly's condition. He was himself a victim of the tender passion to the extent of being an exile from his Virginia home, which he had left on account of dangerously wounding a rival. But he was well touched with the backwoodsman's taste for joke and banter. He and Uncle Jazon, therefore, knowing the main feature of Beverly's predicament, enjoyed making the most of their opportunity in their rude but perfectly generous and kindly way.

By indirection and impersonal details, as regarded his feelings toward Alice, Beverly in due time made his friends understand that his whole an-tion was centered in rescuing her. Nor did the motive fail to enlist their sympathy to the utmost. If all the world loves a lover nil men having the best virtue instinct will light for a lover's cause. Both Kenton and Uncle Jazon were enthusiastic. They wanted nothing better than an opportunity to aid in rescuing any girl who had shown so much patriotism and pluck. But Uncle Jazon was fond of Alice, and Beverly's story affected him peculiarly on her account.

"They's one question I'm a-goin' to put to ye, young man," he said after he had heard everything and they had talked it all over, "an' I want ye to answer it straight as a bullet 'fom yer gun."

"Of course, Jazon. Go ahead," said Beverly. "I shall be glad to answer." But his mind was far away with the gold haired maiden in Hamilton's prison. He scarcely knew what he was saying.

"Air ye expectin' to marry Alice Rousillon?" Beverly started as if a blow had been aimed at him. Uncle Jazon's question indeed was a blow as unexpected as it was direct and powerful.

"I know it's a pooty p'inted," the old man added after a short pause, "an' ye may think that I start' got no business askin' it, but I have. That little gal's a pet o'mine, an' I'm a-lookin' after her an' expectin' to see that she's not bothered by nobody who's not goin' to do right by her. Marryin' is a mighty good thing, but—"

Kenton had been peering under the low hanging scrub oak boughs while Uncle Jazon was speaking these last words, and now he suddenly interrupted:

"The deuce! Look yonder!" he growled out in startling tone. "Injuns!" It was a sharp snap of the conversation's thread, and at the same time two three friends realized that they had been careless in not keeping a better lookout. They let fall the meat they had not yet finished eating and seized their guns.

Five or six dark forms were moving toward them across a little point of the prairie that cut into the wood a quarter of a mile distant.

"Yander's more of 'em," said Uncle Jazon, as if not in the least concerned, wagging his head in an opposite direction, from which another squad was approaching.

That he duly appreciated the situation appeared only in the celerity with which he acted.

Kenton at once assumed command, and his companions felt his perfect fitness. There was no doubt for the first time to what the Indians meant, but even if there had been it would have soon vanished, for in less than three minutes twenty-one savages were swiftly and silently forming a circle enclosing the spot where the three white men, who had covered themselves as best they could with trees, waited in grim steadiness for the worst.

Quite beyond gunshot range, but near enough for Uncle Jazon to recognize Long Hair as their leader, the Indians halted and began making signs to one another all round the line. Evidently they dreaded to test the marksmanship of such riflemen as they knew most border men to be. Indeed Long Hair had personal knowledge of what might certainly be expected from both Kenton and Uncle Jazon. They were terrible when out for fight. The red warriors from Georgia to the great lakes had heard of them; their names smacked of tragedy. Nor was Beverly without fame among Long Hair's followers, who had listened to the story of his fighting qualities brought to Vincennes by the two survivors of the scouting party so cleverly defeated by him.

"The liver colored cowards," said Kenton, "are afraid of us in a shootin' match. They know that a lot of 'em would leave to die if they should undertake an open fight with us. It's some sort of a sneakin' game they are studyin' about just now."

"I'm a-gittin' mos' too ole to shoot w' a cent," said Uncle Jazon, "but I'd give half of my scalp of that Long Hair would come close enough for me to git a lead onto his left eye. It's t'ble plain that we're gone goadin' this time, I'm thinkin'. Still it'd be mighty satisfyin' if I could plug out a left eye or two 'fore I go."

Beverly was silent. The words of his companions were heard by him, but not noticed. Nothing interested him save the thought of escaping and making his way to Clark. To fail meant but one thing—death, of which he had as small fear as most brave men, and to succeed meant everything that life could offer. So in the unaltered selfishness of love he did not take his companions into account.

The three stood in a close set clump of four or five scrub oaks at the highest point of a thinly wooded knoll that sloped down in all directions to the prairie. Their view was wide, but in places obstructed by the trees.

"Men," said Kenton after a thoughtful and watchful silence, "the thing looks kind o' equally for us. I don't see much of a chance to get out of this alive, but we've got to try."

TWO PALATIAL BOATS

The Idler Passed up for Louisville Today.

Wealthy Capitalists Enjoying Their Outing—Those on Board

GOING SOUTH IN A FEW DAYS

The Idler, perhaps the finest horse boat in the world, and towed by the Wanderer, arrived today from the upper Mississippi with a party of wealthy lumber men and their families. They are making their annual cruise and will this year instead of going up Tennessee river go up the Ohio. Pilot Ode Stewart brought them here from St. Louis.

They will go to Louisville, if possible, but if not up some of the tributaries of the Ohio. They will return in a few days and then perhaps go to New Orleans.

The boats are owned by Mr. Lafayette Lamb of Clinton, Ia. Aboard are: Mr. John Henderson and wife, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Mr. Lafayette Lamb and wife, Clinton, Ia.; Judge Coons and wife, Minneapolis, Minn.; Miss Mallet, of Clinton, Ia., and Mr. E. V. Worth and wife of Clinton.

Mr. Henderson is a nephew of Speaker Henderson of the House of representatives. The other members of the party tell a good joke on Mr. Henderson. At St. Louis a few days ago some of the reporters who wrote up the party erroneously stated that Speaker Henderson was aboard the boat and in a short time after the paper came out fully two hundred people called to see the distinguished congressman, and were badly disappointed at finding it was not he. Mr. Henderson, it might be added, was greatly annoyed by the attention he thus inadvertently attracted.

The Idler passes Paducah nearly every year on her pleasure cruises.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

GABE FLETCHER WAS ARRESTED ON THIS CHARGE.

Gabe Fletcher, colored, was arrested last night on the charge of attempted robbery and the officers are looking for his partner who aided him in his attempt.

Fletcher is a dray driver and was brought into court this morning and questioned. He admitted nothing but gave the name of the partner to the officers. They are charged with holding up James Ballowe and Henry Franklyn, white, near the cordage factory and knocking the former down with knucks or something. Fletcher's partner went after Franklyn with a knife but the white man outran him. The case is set for tomorrow.

ARSON CHARGED

PRISONER IN THE LOOKUP MAY GO TO THE PEN.

Charles Harris, colored, who is serving a $20 fine out in the city prison, was this morning warranted for arson. It is alleged that he piled corn shucks, straws and rags in a corner of his cell yesterday and set fire to it and tried to run the city hall. Jim Buchanan, a colored fellow prisoner, saw him and is the prosecuting witness.

Pittsburg won the first, Boston the second, and Pittsburg easily took the other two. Then the Beaneaters took two, winning yesterday's game by a score of 6 to 3 in the presence of over 15,000 people.

HAYES' BEECHWOOD EMULSO-HYPO WITH IRON

Makes Fat, Strength, Blood, Bone and Muscle.

If you are tired, broken down, despondent, worn out, pale, losing flesh, have no energy, don't feel like arising in the morning for the day's work, you should take a bottle of this wonderful medicine.

BOSOTA, Miss., March 19, 1903.
Gentlemen: It affords me no little pleasure to testify to the wonderful properties of Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron as it saved my life when the physicians said that I could not get well. After taking six or eight bottles I weighed 160 pounds. That has been ten years and I am still living in fine health. Wishing you success in its sale, I am yours truly, FANNY DAWSON.

ALLINGTON, Ky., March 18, 1903.
Gentlemen: Having used Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron I cannot commend it too highly to others as a tonic, flesh builder and to give strength, blood and muscle. It is superior to any preparation of which I have any knowledge. I take pleasure in recommending it. Yours truly, R. W. NEWSON.

Read what the editor of the Southerner, Okolona, Miss., says:
Shoffner-Hayes Medicine Co., Paducah, Ky. In 1901 my mother commenced taking Hayes' Beechwood Emulso-Hypo with Iron, when the doctors said her lungs were so badly involved that she would not likely be alive but a few weeks. It improved her so rapidly that she was soon in good health for one of her years. I wish you the success you deserve with your Beechwood Emulso.
